Humility

Hockeyroos coach Rick Charlesworth sums up the most important quality of ongoing success:

“Some people have asked what set us apart from our competition. In my mind the defining characteristic was humility”

“Humility does not imply shyness or lack of belief in what can be achieved. It does not suggest a lack of ambition. It is a state of being objective about yourself and your performance and is entirely consistent with being optimistic about the future”

Humility says we (or I) have never done this perfectly. Humility says there is room for improvement.

To improve Execution, ask your team one question at every opportunity:

HOW CAN WE DO THIS BETTER !
